SANG "HANG JEFF DAVIS." The students of Tufts College, Mass. 150 strong, turned out Friday night to serenade a lady—Mrs. Bray—and chose as their songs such airs as "We'll Hang Jeff Davis to a Sour Apple Tree."
"John Brown's Body," "The Year of Jubilee," and other war-time and negro melodies. Mrs. Bray is a Maryland woman of strong southern sympathies, the wife of Professor Charles D. Bray, whom she married when he was a teacher at the Naval Academy, Annapolis. The demonstration was not complimentary and was not intended to be.

The cause of it originated last Tuesday, when Frank Randal Gale, a sophomore, whose home is in Barre, Vt., at the Goddard prize reading delivered in a most admirable manner Robert G. Ingersoll's "The Volunteer Soldier." This is a prose reading, full of northern sentiment. Mrs. Bray, accompanied by a party of friends, occupied front seats. She was especially interested in young The only mewer that has a self-adjusting cutter bar. The bar will fold down as well as up.

Gale's performance because he is a kind of protege of hers—that is, he boarded at her table.

She was very much hurt because he chose a theme which he knew would be unpleasant to her. On her return to the house she told her husband that she could not dine again at the table THE CHAMPION BINDER, THE with Gale. Professor Bray conveyed her decision to Mr. Gale, who in turn told the story to the students, and they originated the idea of the highly parti san serenade.

Mrs. Bray says she did not think the matter would get outside her own family, and in her family she believes she has a right to indulge her preferences regarding the choice of guests at her

MISCELLANEOUS.

Owing to the order issued last week by Mr. Miller, curtailing the force of special deputies appointed to collect the income tax returns, there is a commotion in the ranks. It is said that most of the collectors are trying to save their men. Mr. Miller says he does not see how anything can be done. There is no money to pay the extra men, no matter how badly they may be needed in some of the districts to aid in the regular work, and when the Supreme Court declared the income tax unconstitutional there was no other course than to suspend the men. Southern gentlemen, guests at the Imperial Hotel, New York, last week received bogus perfumed notes from a mysterious woman, inviting them meet her at a performance of Hamlet II. on the opening night.

EXAMINING BOARD ORGANIZED.— Mr. George B. Hoyt, of Washington, a representative of the Civil Service Commission, was in Lynchburg on Friday, and organized an examining board for this internal revenue district. Mr. John A. Herendon is chairman of the board; Mr. S. T. Pender, secretary, and the third member Mr. J. C. Cologne. The duties of the board will be to examine applicants for places on the eligible list for storekeepers and gaugers and clerks, who are soon to be placed under the civil service rules.
